Celebrating the lives of
Gustav Mahler and Kathleen Ferrier

"Platts's dark, fervent mezzo-soprano was perhaps the most superbly Mahlerian voice of the evening, emerging out of a full orchestra with a setting sun's warm glow."

-Globe and Mail

"Platts....sang with a naturalness and lack of artifice reminiscent of Kathleen Ferrier's, and with a dark, richly toned voice that seemed at ease both in its strong upper register and when plummeting to the depths of a contralto."

-New York Times
